Dear Valued Customer,

The medical diagnostics industry, including RNA Medical has seen historic challenges to the global supply chain and associated inflationary pressures. We have experienced significant cost increases within our operations and there are no signs of relief or reversal.

As these cost increases continue to persist it has become necessary to implement price adjustments for the products you purchase from us. These increases will apply to all new orders beginning July 1st, 2022.

Please refer to the attached RNA Medical 2022 pricelist and be sure to reference the currently applicable pricing column (through June 30th, or effective July 1st, 2022) when placing your order/s.

Please be assured that RNA Medical values your business, and we remain committed to delivering the quality medical device products you have come to expect from us.
